The Michigan Department of Community Health (MDCH) is the largest department within the executive branch, administering over $7.5 billion annually. The functions of MDCH include development of state health policy and management of the state's publicly funded health service systems. More than two million Michigan residents will receive services this year funded in whole or in part through MDCH.

The department was created by Executive Order No. 1996-1, issued on January 31, 1996, by the Governor, in order to provide a more holistic approach to health care in Michigan. The Executive Order consolidated the Department of Public Health, the Department of Mental Health, and the Medical Services Administration, the state's Medicaid agency. The Office of Drug Control Policy and the Office of Services to the Aging were added to the department in subsequent Executive Orders.

The Office of Drug Control Policy receives and distributes federal funds for drug education and criminal justice programs, develops state drug abuse prevention/treatment and drug law enforcement plans and serves as a clearinghouse for information from all state agencies, other states, and the federal government regarding drug programs.

Health Promotions and Publications promotes healthy life-style factors in individuals, vulnerable populations, and communities to improve the health status and quality of life for Michigan residents.

Legislation and Policy facilitates the development of state policy designed to protect and improve the health of the people of Michigan. Other responsibilities under this administrative line include federal affairs and policy development, legislative support and analysis, administrative hearings, legal affairs, certificate of need and community health assessment.

The Community Living, Children and Families Administration assesses need, recommends policy, and promotes the development of capacity within communities to provide quality, accessible, culturally competent services. These services address conditions focused on improving the health, well-being, functioning and/or quality of life for those infants, children, adolescents, and adults who are at risk of or have physical, emotional or mental disabilities, and for their families. Funding is provided for prenatal care clinics, maternal and infant health advocacy services, hearing and vision screening, dental health, lead poisoning prevention and testing, abstinence programming and child health. This administration also coordinates all of the housing, supported community living and self-determination programs and activities of the department.

Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services is responsible for promoting and maintaining an adequate and appropriate system of services for children and adults who have a serious emotional disturbance, a serious mental health condition, a developmental disability, a substance abuse problem or a pathological gambling addiction.

Under the Mental Health Code, the department shall:

- Engage in planning for the purpose of identifying, assessing, and enunciating the mental health needs of the state;
- Review and evaluate the relevance, quality, effectiveness, and efficiency of mental health services provided by state and county community mental health programs;
- Establish minimum standards governing the operation of community mental health services programs;
- Direct mental health services to individuals who have a serious mental illness, developmental disability, or serious emotional disturbance with priority to be given to individuals having the most severe forms of these disabling conditions who are in urgent or emergency situations:
- Promote and maintain an adequate and appropriate system of community mental health services programs throughout the state;
- Promote and maintain "Person-Centered Planning" approach to case planning and service delivery by all publicly funded mental health programs;
- Develop and establish arrangements and procedures for the effective coordination and integration of all public mental health services, and for effective cooperation between public and nonpublic services, for the purpose of providing a unified system of statewide mental health care;
- Review and evaluate the relevance, quality, effectiveness, and efficiency of mental health services being provided by the department and assure the review and evaluation of mental health services provided by community mental health services programs;
- · Provide statewide forensic services.

The department operates the following hospitals and centers:

- A center for children with serious emotional disturbances: Hawthorn Center

- Forensic services: Center for Forensic Psychiatry

Community mental health services programs are available in all 83 counties, under the auspices of 49 single- or multi-county community mental health boards.

Substance Abuse Services is the other major component of the Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services line. It is governed by the Public Health Code. Its duty is to promote the health and welfare of individuals through the reduction of substance abuse and to participate in efforts to address its social, personal, and economic consequences. To accomplish this mission, Substance Abuse Services administers state and federal funds, advocates for effective public policy, and develops appropriate resources.

The Pathological Gambling Services administered by the department includes providing a 24-hour statewide gambling addiction "help line" and gambling treatment services supported entirely with funds provided by the Michigan State Lottery, Department of Agriculture (horse racing) and in the future licensing fees paid by the three casinos under construction in Detroit.

Community Public Health Administration is responsible for assessing community needs and to prolong life and promote health through the prevention and control of communicable and chronic disease. These responsibilities and objectives are administered by the following units:

The Division of HIV/AIDS-STD is responsible for planning, directing, and coordinating prevention, control, and intervention for HIV/AIDS among infected and affected populations in Michigan.
